Hi jong,

I have read your essay draft, and it was very interesting. You have very good hook and thesis in your introduction and strong organization on your body paragraph. Good job! I have seen some errors in mechanics and your name and date is appeared in both pages. Would you please see it again.

Thank you,

Hi Kelly,

You have the same challenge with Weaver. :) I think it might be a good idea to avoid personal story at the essay or put some personal examples in other two paragraphs, also, try to avoid "you" and "I". In my opinion you need to add a few sentences in the introduction and write the conclusion, and I think that you need to add a concluding sentence in paragraph two. If I were you, I'd check the organization more carefully especially format you essay. Anyway, good job!!

Planning a Successful Climb 4/30/2014 | 2:55:59

My topic is describe how to do or participate in a favorite activity or hobby. I chose this topic because my hobby is mountaineering, and I like climbing. I know how to do it very well.

Hi Marina,

The essay you wrote is really got my attention.however,initially ,I never thought that you were going to talk about Mount Everest . Because the title you made is not related to it on the other hand ,regarding thesis, if I were you , I would had written that"for those people who want to plan a successful climb for Mount Everest,should follow three major steps, which is always arduous ,expensive and demand a lot of time."Indeed , I really like this essay that you mentioned how to plan a successful climb Mount Everest.

Dear Marina,

How are you doing?! have revised your essay, and I found it very interesting. You have very good thesis. Besides, your general sentences go smoothly to your thesis. Moreover, you use transition words in your paragraphs effectively. And your organization and contents are very good. However, I found some errors on mechanics and subject-verb agreement. Finally, I recommend you to look on these errors again. Good job!

Thank you.

The topic of my essay is Challenges of Today's Immigrants in the United States. The reason why I choose this topic is because today many immigrants are entering to the United States of America, and these immigrants have get different challenges when they arrive to the country. For instance, they may challenge with culture, language, and unemployment difficulties. Based on my experience, as I am an immigrant, I faced such difficulties. Because of this, I supposed that I can write good essay on this concern.

Thank you.

Hello Weaver,

You essay is clear, and you explained your ideas well. You have a clear thesis with a main idea and controlling ideas. Almost each paragraph contains topic sentence and concluding sentence. (except paragraph #3 I think you should add another sentence or two.) Try to make balance, and I think it might be a good idea to a little bit shorten topic. Anyway, good job!!
