

News & Events

Tuesday March 8 is International Women's Day!

The Women's Center is teaming up with Student Leadership, LGBTQIA Club, and The Feminist Alliance to celebrate International Women's Day!

This year's theme is #pledgeforparity, which is a pledge to take a concrete step to help achieve gender parity more quickly—whether to help women and girls achieve their ambitions, call for gender-balanced leadership, respect and value difference, develop more inclusive and flexible cultures, or root out workplace bias.

Join us to celebrate International Women's Day 10am—2pm in the Grove. There will be a tabling fair, videos, and an Equity bake sale to raise $$ and awareness for local women's organizations.

Stop by to check out the food, music, and information about women's achievements in different countries.

9600 College Way N
Seattle, WA 98103
(206) 934-3600
studentleadership.northseattle.edu
emailSACsquatch@gmail.com
March 2016, Issue 9

Deadline extended! Attend for free!

The Students of Color Conference is a great experience for those who want to strengthen their ethnic/racial identities and experience an affirming environment, in which their experiences are important. The conference can also be transformative for students who are new(er) to racial justice and activism.

New this year:

- Game room with Wii and board games!
- Two students from North will be leading workshops!
- Friday night movie Game Face
- Keynote speakers: Amer F. Ahmed, Terrence Clemens, Fallen Fox

Student Leadership is still accepting applications to attend the Students of Color Conference in Yakima, WA, April 21—23. All expenses will be paid, including hotel, transportation, registration, and meals. The conference is open to ALL students (of any identity) who will be enrolled spring quarter. Pick up an application at the Student Leadership office (CC 1446), the Women's Center, or the Library Reference Desk. The new due date is Thursday, March 10.

Research at North!

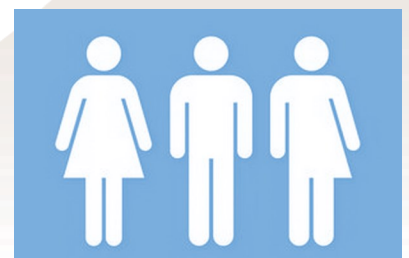

If you participated in the Psychology Research Day and want to know what the results of the studies are (or are just curious about research happening on campus)—students will be presenting their work at the Research Symposium on Wednesday, March 23, from 10:30—12:30 in the Grove Seminar Room (HS 1540A). Please stop by!

Nanotechnology talk!

The next Faculty Salon takes place Wednesday March 9 from 1:00—2:00pm in the Library Seminar room (behind the Reference Desk). Alicia Cohn will talk with us about Nanotechnology.

All-Gender Bathrooms at NSC—Open Forum

Come share your opinions and thoughts! The forum takes place Wednesday, March 16, 12:00—2:00pm at the Baxter Center (CC 1349A). We will open with a viewing of Toilet Training (25 min.), the acclaimed short film featuring Dean Spade. Refreshments will be provided.

Student Leadership Newsletter

All-Gender Bathroom Survey!

Dear NSC Students & Staff,
Soon a survey will be sent out regarding the All-Gender Bathrooms initiative here on campus. This survey is designed for the purpose of measuring the awareness of our students and staff about the initiative, as well as how they feel about All-Gender Bathrooms.

The issue of All-Gender Bathrooms is an important subject for the safety of our staff and students. In fact, significant numbers of NSC staff and students will positively benefit from this initiative.

For sample questions and more information about the survey, please contact the Research & Advocacy Board (RAB) at: falinejett@gmail.com

- Ravi Spigner, RAB Member

Women's Center Update!

To raise awareness of present controversial issues, of upcoming events and ongoing sources available to both students and faculty, the Women's Center has been rad enough to host a lineup of compelling showings and activities, waiting to be taken advantage of. Keep your eyes peeled for Women's Center events! Flyers are posted frequently and ubiquitously, and the television screens located at the Grove tend to be a helpful resource for getting updates.

The Women's Center frequently tables in the Grove and will be offering information and dialogues on street harassment in April. Tabling for anti-street harassment could be a wonderful opportunity to meet and communicate with other individuals on campus, so come by and experience something! You never know what you might learn (or snack on).

SAVE THIS DATE!

Tuesday April 19, the Guerilla Girls On Tour is coming to North! Guerrilla Girls is an anonymous touring theatre company whose mission is to develop performance art, activist plays, and street theatre addressing feminism and women's history. The Women's Center is hosting this spectacular event at 1:00pm at the Concert Hall.

- Meral Husnein, Student Cabinet Member

Breaking the Binary!

As part of International Women's Day, Student Leadership presents NED Talks: "Breaking the Binary." This series of 20-minute talks takes place Tuesday, March 8, 1:00—2:00pm at the NSC Concert Hall (under the Library). Come check out our brilliant speakers!

Club Mixer—Hosted by the Feminist Alliance!

Looking to join a club at North? Already part of a club and looking to connect with others? Drop in to meet new people, eat food, and play games! Bring food if you like, bring your friends and friendliness! The Club Mixer takes place on Wednesday, March 9, 12:00—1:00pm in the Grove Seminar Room (HS 1540A, behind the hot food line.).

