You have several options in how you want to buy your text (hardback, paperback, binder ready, etext). Your best option is to purchase the textbook from our bookstore. If you purchase from another location, note that you must purchase the correct access code. The code is ONLY available from our bookstore or online through the course website. Print texts can be purchased anywhere without the bundled code.

TEXTS

College Physics: A Strategic Approach, by Knight, Jones, and Field, Pearson. 3rd Ed., 2015. Be sure to get the version that includes Modified MasteringPhysics Access Code

Notes about options:

- You may purchase an e-text with your access code instead of the printed version. This is probably the least expensive of all the options. However, always check the total cost with separate purchase of workbook. Remember that I don't have current price information on every option.
- New texts may come bundled with a Modified MasteringPhysics Access Code. Warning: You may not get the correct code if you buy the bundle from a source other than our bookstore. Check before buying separately or from another source.
- Used texts may be purchased, however you will have to additionally purchase the access code.
- Access codes can be purchased online ONLY through a link from the Course Canvas page. Do NOT purchase codes from the publisher site on your own. If you do, you will have to contact the publisher for a different code which will delay your ability to start course material.
- International versions of the text are acceptable as are other formats such as binder versions. However, be sure that you also purchase the correct MODIFIED MasteringPhysics Access Code.
- It is also possible to get by with an older edition or another author's general physics text. However, all course material will be keyed to the course text. If you opt for this, you will still be responsible for all course readings and other content. (You may want to consult with the instructor before committing to this option.)
